

Kingdom Housing - GCP Migration / Consultancy

Kingdom Housing Association were in the process of migrating over 60 VM's onto GCP as well as migrating 500 users onto Google Workspace. Netpremacy provided support with expertise and guidance on a time and materials basis.

The challenge

Kingdom has their own project methodology and the digital team was partway through the migration process. Kingdom sought Netpremacy expertise on deployment approaches and guidance on workloads such as SQL server to cover off own findings and ensure the best approach. Kingdom also explored options on networking in Google Cloud and implemented Logging features for control and compliance.

The solution

Kingdom reached out to Netpremacy for verification of work and approaches throughout the project, consulting on specific areas. Netpremacy was available for both Google projects as and when assistance was required.

The results

Rather than outsource the migration, Kingdom learnt how to complete the VM migrations and workloads, and achieve best practices and 100% compliance of International computing standards in GCP. As they developed and managed the project themselves, successfully onboarding 500 users onto Workspace, their team retained knowledge in-house and has the expertise to progress and implement new features.

The collaboration with Netpremacy provided an extra layer of confidence in the approach and execution of the projects. They were able to develop resources internally, retain valuable knowledge in-house and empower their team. Kingdom was able to adopt Google best practices, achieving 100% compliance and progressing knowledge and skills in-house.
