

AutoBizLine, Inc.

KloudStax worked with AutoBizLine to migrate their AWS Virtual Machines and Database to Google Cloud. With the support of KloudStax's technical team, AutoBizLine successfully transitioned its AWS operations to Google Cloud.

The challenge

AutoBizLine underwent a complex migration from AWS to GCP, involving multiple VMs with distinct functions and a necessary database upgrade. The process posed challenges in ensuring operational continuity, VM compatibility with GCP, and uninterrupted database availability during the upgrade.

The solution

KloudStax utilized GCP's VM Migration tool for a seamless transfer of VMs, adjusting configurations and networking for proper functionality in the new environment. KloudStax also used GCP's Database Migration Service for AWS Relational Database Service (RDS) database replication to CloudSQL, allowing thorough testing before the production cutover to ensure a reliable transition.

The result

The collaboration between AutoBizLine and KloudStax led to a successful VM and database migration, fulfilling all project specifications. Through rigorous testing, system stability and performance were confirmed. KloudStax further improved security and compliance with a detailed Identity and Access Management (IAM) implementation and provided comprehensive infrastructure documentation.

“ We hesitated to migrate our VMs and databases to Google Cloud due to complexity. KloudStax enabled a smooth transition with minimal downtime and no user impact. They also provided valuable cloud maintenance tips and insights into services like DDoS defense and AI capabilities. Our experience with KloudStax and Google Cloud has been highly positive, and we strongly recommend their services. ”
