

Vitaly migrated 2,500 users from M365 to Google Workspace

Devoteam led the change management service, which included a comprehensive plan with customized training, ongoing communication, and satisfaction surveys, ensuring a smooth transition and minimized disruption to daily operations.

The challenge

Unifying workplace tools by migrating all 2,500 employees from Microsoft 365 to Google Workspace. This involved rapid migration of 50 TB of data before the Microsoft contract expired in March 2024, to avoid extra costs, and a well-defined phased execution to avoid disruptions for employees productivity.

The solution

The migration of 2.500 users was done in phases of smaller groups, until the Go Live for the remaining 2.000 users. Prior to the migration, a calendar synchronization was carried out between M365 and Google Workspace, and a password synchronizer with Active Directory (AD). Constant communications and training were implemented so that employees were always informed about the project.

The result

Vitaly consolidated platforms, improving efficiency and collaboration. This streamlined workflows and optimized internal coordination. Also centralizing 2,500 users gave Vitaly stronger negotiating power, resulting in better pricing on licenses. Vitaly aims to maximize employee use of digital tools and boost productivity with AI-powered capabilities.

“When you finish a project, at the end of the day what you do is analyse what things have been done well and what things can be improved, and this project has had many aspects to achieve success and one of them has been to choose a good partner, thank you Devoteam”.

Santiago Muñoz - National Deputy Director of Technology
