

SBTi Transforms Collaboration with Ancoris and Google

Ancoris worked with the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi) to deliver a seamless Google Workspace migration for 152 users, including data migration planning, user provisioning, security configuration, and tailored training programs.

The challenge

Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi) needed to migrate its messaging and collaboration platform to Google Workspace, moving away from a hosted IMAP server. This move was critical for SBTi to embrace a modern, scalable, and collaborative work environment while ensuring the secure migration of sensitive data and minimising disruption during the transition.

The solution

Ancoris enabled 152 new personal and shared mailboxes on the sciencebasedtargets.org domain. The email data was migrated from Bluehost to Google Workspace, ensuring a seamless transition and minimal disruption. Ancoris also provided ongoing consultancy and support, empowering the SBTi team to become proficient Google Workspace administrators.

The result

Ancoris successfully migrated SBTi to Google Workspace, ensuring seamless email data transfer and providing comprehensive user training. This resulted in enhanced collaboration and streamlined communication and equipped SBTi's team with the tools for increased productivity and efficient daily operations.

The Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi) sought to streamline communication and collaboration processes. To this end, SBTi partnered with Ancoris to migrate their existing email system and 152 users to Google Workspace. This strategic move aimed to enhance collaboration, improve data security, and align with their commitment to environmental responsibility.

About Science Based Targets

The Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi) is a corporate climate action organisation that enables companies and financial institutions worldwide to play their part in combating the climate crisis. The SBTi is incorporated as a UK charity, with a subsidiary SBTi Services Limited, which hosts our target validation services.

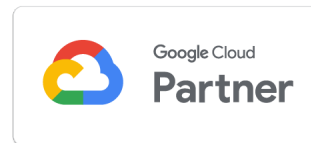

Vertical/horizontal solution: Non-Profit

Primary project location: United Kingdom

About Ancoris Limited

Ancoris is a Google Cloud Services Provider, headquartered in the UK, on a mission to become the most innovative Google Cloud partner in the ecosystem

Products

Google Workspace