

Degasa - SAP on Google Cloud

Kyndryl provided the infrastructure and SAP migration solution when Degasa's current data center announced its closure. Google Cloud services were proposed and Kyndryl provided the specialists to cover the client's needs.

The challenge

The biggest challenge has been the substantial increase in Degasa's business, affecting most processes. Security became the main issue to be addressed since no local company managed to provide the required level, as well as operational and cost efficiency. The possibility of getting cloud specialists for a fee was the best option, having specialized personnel provide these services.

The solution

The solution was an As-Is migration from the existing cloud into Google Cloud, but to accelerate the process Kyndryl automated the infrastructure deployment using Terraform for Linux environments and created OVF (Open Virtualization Format) objects for their Windows environments. Kyndryl also implemented a GCP solution called "Backup and DR" for dashboard reading access and tool reports.

The result

Kyndryl configured the ERP environments with Sybase, infrastructures communicate using NFS (Network File System) and FTP (File Transfer Protocol). Kyndryl manages the infrastructure, Operating System and SAP Basis activities. Degasa uses the services for their ongoing activities and is prepared for the HANA environment changes, also the Linux systems are ready for decoupling at any moment.

“ I'm an IT Director working for the health industry. My mission is to make sure the supplies get in time when the customer need it. My job is to foresee the demand, not for bits and bytes, but for health products. That's where Kyndryl comes in assuming the technological load, making sure the company is in an optimal technological place, putting the process capacity where the important processes are ”
