

Spaceflow: New generation of tenant experience with Google Cloud

Spaceflow's collaboration with Vortex and migration to Google Cloud Platform solutions led to amazing outcomes. They achieved improved development speed, enhanced system reliability, and substantial cost reductions.

The challenge

Spaceflow, with a limited development team, required a managed pipeline solution built on known technology to grant developers greater control and streamline billing processes while reducing costs. This approach aimed to empower developers to concentrate on solution delivery while harnessing the scalability advantages of cloud technology.

The solution

Spaceflow strategically leveraged Google Cloud Marketplace solutions to streamline billing processes and enhance operational efficiency by migrating Gitlab from AWS self-managed solutions. This move not only reduced operational complexities but also provided a unified and improved experience for the DevOps team. Additionally, with the capabilities of GKE, they achieved scalability as needed.

The result

As a result, with Vortex's assistance, Spaceflow experienced a 15% increase in development speed, enhanced system reliability, and achieved a substantial 30% cost reduction while simplifying operations.

“ Under Vortex's expert guidance, our transition to GCP solutions not only significantly reduced costs but also streamlined our operations. This transformation has not only empowered our developers with newfound flexibility but has also propelled our business towards even greater success. ”

Petr Stehlik, Head of Engineering

SPACEFLOW

About Spaceflow, s.r.o.

Spaceflow is a digital tenant experience solution that enables landlords of commercial and residential buildings to attract and retain tenants, create a frictionless experience and gather vital insights into occupier expectations and preferences.

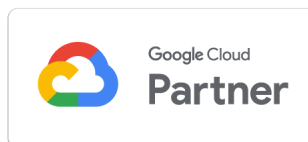

Vertical/horizontal solution: Software & Internet

Primary project location: Czech Republic

About Vortex Pro s.r.o.

We are revolutionizing the role of your cloud partner and trusted advisor.

Products

Google Cloud Platform