

KIDOLOG Application Development

Kidolog partnered with Oredata to build their cloud application infrastructure to leverage cloud benefits like reliability, scalability and leverage global GPU computing power whenever necessary in a cost effective manner.

The challenge

Kidolog had a website on premise with limited computing power which can serve limited amount of online visitors. On top of that Kidolog wanted to leverage AI models and GPU powered servers to respond with lightning fast customer experience. However due to limited expertise and limited team members who can work on technology it was challenging to meet the vision rapidly.

The solution

Kidolog and Oredata collaborated to revamp Kidolog's infrastructure and application, migrating to Google Cloud Platform. The outcome is a modernized system enhancing reliability and scalability, enabling better customer service and business growth. Cloud migration yields cost savings and increased flexibility in resource allocation.

The result

Kidolog modernization project has provided a scalable solution. The company migrated to a modern, cloud-based infrastructure and streamlined processes, leading to increased productivity. The new solution allows for better scalability, making the company ready for peak volumes in the future.

Kidolog's modernization project was an excellent experience for our company, we had been guided from zero to production while being recommended best practices in Google Cloud. We were able to implement a solution which can scale easily and has global level reliability, world class computing power on our fingertips whenever we require.
